Tech Info Library

Apple III: Problems with cursor positioning in CP/M

```
Revised:        3/4/85
Security:       Everyone
```

Apple III: Problems with cursor positioning in CP/M

==

If you're having problems with cursor positioning in CP/M--specifically, problems with accessing rows 8 or 9 from BASIC--you're probably using a version of CP/M earlier than version 2.21. The remedy is to upgrade to CP/M 2.21, and then to study page 32 of the documentation that comes with that upgrade.

Apple Technical Communications

Tech Info Library Article Number:872