Tech Info Library

A/UX: Non-SCSI HD20 Not Supported

```
Revised:        9/29/92
Security:       Everyone
```

A/UX: Non-SCSI HD20 Not Supported

==

Article Created: 13 April 1988

Article Change History

08/31/92 - REVIEWED
            • For technical accuracy.

TOPIC --

A/UX Engineering does not now -- and does not plan to -- support the original HD20 disk drive for use with A/UX. Its size, cost, and performance make it unsuitable for the majority of UNIX work.

Apple will continue supporting the HD20 SC SCSI disk, as well as HD40 SC, HD80 SC, and any future drives designed to be used with A/UX.

Copyright 1989 Apple Computer, Inc.

Tech Info Library Article Number:2878