AppleShare Pro: Display Correct Creator Dates (6/93)

======================================================================

Article Created: 11 June 1993

TOPIC -----------------------------------------------------------

Will all documents display the correct file size, creation date and modified date for the applications listed above that you have worked with?

DISCUSSION ------------------------------------------------------

Yes, files copied to the server will preserver the correct "Created or Modified" dates. Files created on the server will be created with the current date, time of the server. Folders created on the server will be created with the current date, time of the server. Folders copied to the server will have the correct "Created" date and the modified date will be set to the current date, time on the server. This is also the way current AppleShare servers work.
