Macintosh Easy Open and Generic System File Icons (2/95)

Article Created: 21 February 1995

TOPIC ---

Since I installed System 7.5, both the Finder icon on the System Folder and the System icon in the About this Macintosh window are showing up as a generic document icons (a little piece of paper with the upper left corner folded over).

Everything seems to function normally. I have already rebuilt my desktop with extensions off, but that did not change it. How can I fix this?

DISCUSSION --

Make sure that Macintosh Easy Open is the first control panel to load before all other extensions and control panels. You can do this by adding a space before the control panel's name so, instead of "Macintosh Easy Open" the name will be " Macintosh Easy Open".

If this does not correct your problem, you may need perform a clean installation of the System software.
